Dear Earth,

Thank for all the clean water you've given us and all of the beautiful plants we have. We are so grateful for all the delicious food we are able to grow here. Thank you for the lovely mountains, blue lakes and rivers. We are also very pleased for the golden beaches and rocky cliffs. We are most thankful for the clean oxygen. I enjoy going on holidays, playing and climbing rocks at beaches, I also enjoy breathing in fresh air going on walks in beautiful gardens. Some of my favourite walks are long walks at valleys.

I'm writing to you to say I am sorry for all bad things that has happened like pollution, deforestation, landfill, poaching your exotic animals and especially global warming which is destroying the habitats of poor defenceless polar bears.

To try to stop all these disastrous things from happening, I'm going to check where the food comes from and I will stop buying products that contain palm oil. When I shop I will take my own reusable bags. I will use a lot less plastic and recycle more. I am looking after my garden well, feeding the birds and I have started making my own compost. I am going to grow my own food as well.

Yours sincerely,
Noah
